Death of Prince Baudonin.

By Cable and Associated Press,] BRUSSELLS, Jan. 23 .- The Prince Baudouin, nephew of King Leopold, and heir to the throne of Belgium, died this morning. The cause alleged was bronchitis. His death caused a tremenduous sensation and creates consternation among all classes. All sorts of rumors are circulating, as the public was unaware that the Prince was ill. Prince Baudouin Leopald Philippe Marie Charles Antone Joseph Louis was the son of a Count of Flanders, brother of King Leopold. Prince Boudouin was born June 3d, 1869. He was Captain of the Belgian Carbineres and Captain of the Prussian cavalry attached to the second regiment of the Hanovereian Dragoons. The most alarming rumors were circulated on all sides, and grew as the day progressed. It is openly asserted that the death of the Prince was a repetition of the circumstances surrounding the death of Arch-Duke Rudolph, heir to the Austrian throne, who met his death in such a mysterious manner on January 30, 1889. It is added that a beautiful German woman, a governess who has been recently banished from the Belgium court, by order of King Leopold, is in some way connected with the death of Prince Baudouin. Rumor also had it that there was an intrigue between the governess and the Prince, and the result of the liaison is said to have been the birth of a child. In any case the death of Prince Baudouin is surrounded with mystery and speculation. Court physicians, in the death certifi-on the solid basis of this fact. Telegrams and messages of condolence to the royal family of Belgium in their great sorrow are reaching Brussells from all parts of Europe. Intense excitement prevails in Brussells and throughout the provinces. Crowds of people are parading the streets or gathered in knots at the street corners eagerly discussing the situation. On all sides the warmest expressions of sympathy with the royal family are beard. Prince Baudouin's popularity and brilliant talents and bright hopes was centered by Belgians on his future career, which makes them feel his loss in the keenest manner possible. The news of the Prince's death was withheld from his sister, the Princess Henrietta, a beautiful girl twenty years of age, who is dangerously sick from inflammation of the lungs. The palace of the Count of Flanders, where the Princess resides, is surrounded by a strong force of police who are doing their utmost to prevent the unusual noise in the streets from arousing the suspicions of the suffering Princess.

After considerable debate the matter was settled amicably by Morrill obtaining the original resolution from the files of the House, reporting it from his committee and having it referred to the Committee on Rules. LONDON, Jan. 23.—A dispatch from Buenes Avres states that information was received from Chili to the effect that Valparaiso, Iquique, Coquimbo and Pica continue in a state of blockade. The insurgents are masters of the situation. They seized Tarapaca, and sacked all the stores containing, or supposed to contain arms and amunition in Valparaiso. The insurgents will allow the port of Valparaiso to be re-opened, provided the foreign consuls maintain a neutral attitude. Silver Pool Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.-David T. Tittler of Illinois, who was mentioned as being the agent of Senator Cameron in the purchase of silver bullion, appeared before the Silver Pool Investigating Committee to-day. After relating how he had bought and sold between forty and fifty thousand dollars worth of silver early in the summer before any legislation on the matter was had, the latter was asked if he had purchased any for Senator Cameron. He replied:

"Yes, I bought a small amount of silver for Cameron. I do not remember the exact amount, about a hundred thousand dollars worth. That was some two or three weeks after I made the purchase on my own account, and it was pending the silver legislation. It was before Congress had legislation on it. No, I do not remember the exact date, but it was before the final

"Did you buy for any other Senator, Represntative or Government official?" was asked him.

"I did not offer to do so. I want to state about Cameron. He met me one day. I had been talking with divers members. Senators and others. I did not seek to disguise the fact that I had bought some silver, feeling that I had a right to do so, and gave my opinion when asked that silver was a purchase, and that there was money in it. Cameron knew I had purchased some, and when he met me one day he said: 'I want you to buy some silver for me.' I think he opened the subject, although I do not remember about it."

Protest Against Persecution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.-Represen tatives Cummings, of New York, and Catchings, of Mississippi, called upon Secretary Blaine to-day and presented him the resolutions adopted by the Hebrews of Greenville, Miss., asking similar petitions from all parts of the country, and that a digest of them was being made, which would be forwarded to the United States Minister at St. Petersburg, and by him transmitted to the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The Strike Still On.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.-Chief Clark of the Order of Railway Conductors and a committee of strikers from Huntington, Indiana, are in conference to-day with the officials of the Chicago & Erie road. No conclusion has yet been reached, but the prospects are that the strike will be settled to-day or to-morrow.

It is said that General Manager Tupper made a proposition to the nembers of the committee and they mmediately took the train for Huntington.

FASHIONABLE PARTIES. The Expense and Inconvenience of Laves

New York is distinguished every season for its monster masquerades and fancy balls. In spite of gas, music, flowers and gay costumes these gatherings, if we are to believe the reports of many who "assist" at them, are at once dreary and 'isgusting. The multitudes of mock kings, knights, duchesses, scaramouches, pickwicks, cardinals, Indians, clowns, columbines, pantaloons, hidalgos, sailors, punchinellos, flower-girls and what not who meet upon a common level upon these occasions are nothing more than promenading and gyrating dummies, says the New York Ledger. The world may be a stage, but these ladies and gentlemen show very clearly that all the men and women are not playersnot one in five hundred of them having the slightest idea of personating the character whose outer husk he or she-

These monster balls are said to be principally remarkable for three impossibilities, viz: the impossibilitity of dancing on account of the crowd, the impossibility of getting any refreshments without fighting for them and the impossibility of obtaining access to the dressing-rooms except by force of arms. Fifteen dollars for a ticket and one hundred dollars for a costume may not be too much to pay for six hours of discomfort, but by riding in the city railroad or elevated cars for the same length of time you can get shoved, jammed and hustled about almost as thoroughly for much less money, and you needn't pay any thing extra for costume either.

THE COBWEB PARTY. A New and Unique Game and How It Is

The following description of the 'cobweb party" is given by a writer in the New York Star: A central point in a house is selected, say the chandelier in the front parlor, and to this a number of strings are attached, according to the number of guests who have been invited to take part in the game. There may be twenty-five, or fifty, or even more. Then these strings are twisted about the chairs, around table legs, through keyholes, down-stairs into the dining-room, out to the kitchen, upstairs again into the bedroom, and, in fact, all over the house. These strings make the cobweb. At the end of each is a prize, which acts as a stimulant to the guests, to each of whom a string is assigned, to follow his or her thread to its termination through its many devious and provoking intertwinings. In Chicago the cobweb party has become so popular that men are employed to prepare houses when one is announced, and it sometimes takes three days to get a large house ready. When the guests get to following up the strings there is plenty of fun, as they meet in all parts of the house, cross and recross each other's paths, get their feet tangled up in the threads, and have a great many funny experiences.

DANGEROUS GROUND. An Insecure Foundation Upon Which to

Build a City. "San Salvador is all on a volcano," said Senor Jose Fulano, of Pasolibre, to a Chicago Tribune man at the Grand Pacific the other day. "It has been three times destroyed by earthquakes, but the people get used to it and do not seem to mind it. It comes at intervals. and, really, while it makes one excessively nervous, there is little danger to life. I have known the shocks to come as frequently as eighty times in an hour. The effects are quite peculiar. In the city of Salvador is a brick column nine feet high and three feet square. That was shoved some one hundred feet without losing its perpendicularity or crack-"The ground under the city of Sal vador is full of caverns of unknown depth. A man was digging a well there The last stroke he gave with his pick the bottom fell out, and he and his pick and all fell through nobody knows where; to China probably. There is a volcano not far from Salvador that some years ago discharged lava over a forest. The wood all burned, of course, but the lava being light and easily cooled hardened into long arcades through which one may walk, and as you go you can see the imprint of the trunks and branches of the trees in the now cooled lava."

Buffalo Herds a Half Century Ago. I think I can truly say that I saw in that region in one day more buffaloes than I have seen of cattle in all my life. I have seen the plain black with them for several days' journey as far as the eye could reach. They seemed to be coming northward continually from the distant plains to the Platte to get water, and would plunge in and swim across by thousands-so numerous were they that they changed not only the color of the water, but its taste, until it was unfit to Arink; but we had to use it. One night when we were encamped on the South Fork of the Platte, they came in such droves that we had to sit up and fire guns and make what fires we could to keep them from running over us and trampling us into the dust. We could the them thundering all night long; the ground fairly trembled with vast approaching bands; and if they had not been diverted, wagons, animals and emigrants would have been trodden under their feet.—Gen. John Bidwell, in Contrary in Century.

Jewelry Going Out. It is no longer de rigueur to wear a watch chain, and the man-about-town who desires to carry about with him a reminder of the fleeting hours must car-ry it without any gold chain attached, says the New York World. The waistcoat of the favorite cutaway is no longer to display an ornamental bunch charms or a dangling souvenir of the declared that men must abjure dia-monds by night as well as by day, barring a deep-set solitaire, perhaps, for the little finger, but the new decree against watch chains will fall with severity on very young men, who like to have a little jewelry to toy with in their hours of statuesque posing. The fact is, however, that the dictum of modes masculine is quite as absurd as the feminine edict that street dresses must sweep the pavement, and is quite as likely to be disregarded by sensible Commercial Row, Reno, Nevada.

Steady Progress

Has characterized Hood's Sarsaparilla ever since it was placed before the publc. Wher-ever introduced, its sales have grown from ever introduced, its sales have grown from year to year, until now it is the most popular and most successful medicine offered. Any druggist will confirm this statement. The secret of this success lies in the fact that Hood's Saraparilla is a medicine of merit. It does actually accomplish all that is claimed for it, and when given a fair trial, is reasonable sortists to be a baseful. Positive Statements.

"Since Hood's Sarsaparilla has been in my hands for sale I have had frequent and unreserved testimonials in its favor. Although year, my sales have been greater than of any similar preparation, and the testimo its favor are at once positive and personally noticeable." A. WRIGHT, Healdsburg

Sells On Its Merits. "My boys say, 'Papa, why don't you buy more of Hood's Sarsarparilla at a time; we are always short.' It sells on its own merita."

VALUABLE OPINIONS,

Calculated to Give the Legislature

The GAZETTE files the following additional opinions to its query as to what law would be most beneficial for the Legislature to pass:

NORTH'S RANCH, Jan. 20.

EDITOR GAZETTE: The most needed legislation, in my opinion, is the repeal of the impractable water law passed by the last session, and the reduction of taxes, which could be done by reducing the number of office holders, both State and county, and in many instances the salary of same. in many instances the salary of same. Any reasonable method of reaching this would be acceptable to me, and I think to the general run of tax payers. Only do not pay every dollar of taxes to office holders, and then there might be now and then a dollar that would go for public improvement. go for public improvement.

Yours truly,

RENO, Jan. 23, 1891.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Answering your circular letter of the 10th inst., in our opinion one of the most necessary laws to pass, and one which would do more toward building up a high moral standard in the State, would be the enactment of a Sunday closing law. If sumptnary laws of this character are not permissable under our State Constitution, will our District Attorney please inform us through the Ga-Reno, Jan. 23, 1891. ney please inform us through the Gazerre if a municipal law can be passed and enforced under the corporate powers of town government. That such a law is desirable can not be gainsayed, and as we are seeking relief from the thralldom of labor on the seventh day, we will be pleased to receive light upon the subject through the columns of the GAZETTE.

THE CLERKS' LEAGUE.

GENOA, Jan. 22. EDITOR GAZETTE: An enabling Act for counties to issue bonds, that with State aid already available, to secure to each county water storage sufficient for irrigation. Very respectfully, C. P. YOUNG, P. M.

AUSTRALIAN BALLOT.

Miner Provisions, Penalties and Prohibitions.

Section 29 declares void all ballots not indorsed with the official stamp. Section 30 imposes a penalty of imprisonment of not less than one year, nor more than five years, upon any one convicted of any fraud in violating the election law.

Section 31 imposes a fine upon any one found guilty of wilfully defacing the cards of instruction.

Section 32 imposes a penalty of both fine and imprisonment upon any officer neglecting to perform any duty mposed by this law.

Section 33 prohibits officers of elec-tion from doing any electioneering on election day, and prohibits electioneer-ing within fifty feet of the polls, and otherwise provides for the utmost secrecy of the ballot. Section 34 makes it the duty of the Secretary of State to cause to be published in pamphlet form the election law, the registration law, and other laws that bear upon the subject of Section 35 designates the hours from 9 o'clock A. M. to 7 o'clock P. M. when the polls shall be kept open. The above, with what has been heretofore published, comprises all the principal provisions of the law.

The registration law of Washington is in the main similar to ours, and no material changes would be necessary. Washington has, however, a primary election law that might be adopted here with good results, but as that is a matter of after-consideration, it is to it.

The main point to be secured is a secret ballot as already guaranteed under our constitution. from the taint of contamination that has been attached to elections in the past, and which can only be removed by a change in the system.

APOLLO LOVED,

And the Villain Still Pursued Her.

"And Daphne-like, she eluded him." This is a remark often heard, and, while well understood, its origin is so remote that few can trace it to its source. Some have a vague idea that Daphne was a goddess of extreme cunning, or, in plain language, too smart to be caught. The fiction is smart to be caught. The notion is that Apollo sought Daphne to be his wife, but she refused him and skipped away. A long chase followed, but she eluded him. Apollo followed so closely that Daphne jumped into the river and drowned herself. This should have been enough to dampen the ardor of Apollo, but he sought another goddess named Kyrene, who had the reputation of having hugged had the reputation of having hugged a lion to death. This was Apollo's a lion to death. This was Apollo's bean ideal, and he married her, who however, soon became so vexed over hearing the phrase that heads this article that she took him away to a foreign land called Lybia, and started a corset factory for the benefit of future generations, and the Palace Dry Goods House has the agency.

The Lumber Cut. The Truckee Republican says the lumber cut on the river for the year 1890 was as follows:

The Great Spring Medicine. It will be gratifying to all who realise the vital necessity of purifying the blood, to know that Hibbard's Bheumatic Syrup can be relied upon as a blood medicine. Mr. B. C. Robinson, of Marshall, Mich., says:

B. C. Robinson, of Marshall, Mich., says:

GENTLEMEN-I have suffered intensely from billionsness and rheumatiam for over three years and had tried so many remedies that I had lost all faith. Hearing of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrap I bought a bottle and found it helped me. I have now used four bottles, and it has restored my liver and kidneys to healthy action, and done more to purify my blood than anything I have ever taken. I am pleased to recommend it as a wonderful blood medicine. Tours very truly,

THE PIOCHE RAILROAD.

March.

News has been received in Salt

Lake City from an unmistakably authoritative source that the management of the Union Pacific railway has finally decided to begin work on the Milford-Pioche extension on the first of March. The road has been graded from Milford to Pioche, a distance of 140 miles, but the roadbed and rails only extend out from Milford a few only extend out from Milford a few miles. The most difficult part of the work of construction has been completed, and it will only require a few months' labor to place the road in running order. So the good people of Pioche need not be surprised if they are awakened from their Rip Van Winkle sleep by the shrill blast of a locomotive before snow flies next winter. The country which the road will open up to settlement and trade will open up to settlement and trade is of vast extent, and it will add much to the welfare of south-eastern Nevada.

The San Francisco papers of recent date ontained the following offer:— "As an evidence of the ability of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla to prevent sick headaches, we will give to the first twelve responsible persons who will apply at our office a bottle free if they will agree that after they have been cured that they will admit the fact over their signatures."

This offer so startlingly asserted the efficiency of the remedy that many accepted, and the letters of the parties, nearly all of whom responded, are probably the most convincing attestations that any remedy eyer received. The following is a sample of those received:-

those received:—

I have been subject to bilious headaches and constipation for several years past; in fact, have been compelled to take a physic every other night or else I would have a headache and dull, mean feeling. I have taken that bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, and have derived great benefit from it, and intend continning it. After my own experience I can heartily advise those troubled with biliousness and constipation to try it. Yours, CHAS. E. ELKINGTON.

A HORSE WHO CAN TALK!

Everybody has heard of a "horse laugh," but who has ever seen an equine gifted with the power of speech? Such an animal would be pronounced a miracle; but so would the telegraph and the telephone a hundred years ago. Why, even very recently a cure for consumption, which is universally acknowledged to be scrofula affecting the lungs, would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when other means have failed. Thousands gratefully testify to this. It is the most potent tonic, or strength-restorer, alterative, or blood-cleanser and nutritive, or flesh-builder, known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh in the Head, and all Lingering Coughs, it is an unequaled remedy. Still do I see your beauteous face,
And with the glow
Of your dark eyes cometh a grace

Of long ago.
So gentle, too, my mother;
Just as of old, upon my brow,
Like benedictions tow.
Falleth your dear hand's touch,
And still, as then,
A voice that glads me overmuch

Cometh again, My fair and gentle mother.

How you have loved me, mother, I have not power to tell— Knowing full well
That even in the rest Above
It is your will

To watch and guard me with your love, Loving me still. And, as of old, my mother. I am content to be a child, By mother's love beguiled From all these other charms

So, to the last, Within thy dear, protecting arms My guardian angel, mother.

A STRANGE CASE.

Why Wallace Harper Would Not Prove His Innocence.

"Prisoner at the bar, what have you to say why sentence should not be passed upon you?" A solemn hush pervaded the courtroom as the judge addressed the young man in the prisoner's dock as above. Wallace Harper turned his gaze for an instant toward me. I had defended the young prisoner to the best of my ability and the outcome was a verdict of guilty. From the outset I expected this, although in my utmost soul I believed the unfortunate man innocent. Circumstantial evidence, however, had encompassed him round so completely, it was impossible to override it. I could give the prisoner no look of encouragement. I merely looked dumb, perhaps stolidly indifferent, although I was far from feeling so.

Wallace Harper rose slowly to his feet, until be towered full six feet of noble stature, and gazed fixedly at the judge. His face was pale as death, and when he opened his lips and spoke, the words sounded hollow and unnatural.

"Your honor, what can I say on an occasion like this? I was foredoomed from the start. Our family has always been unfortunate. My father was killed in battle (Gettysburg.) and my poor mother died of a broken heart. eldest brother fell in one of the battles in the West, the youngest died of yellow fever at Memphis, some years ago, and I am the last of the race. I, it seems, am doomed to die on the gal-

He paused here, a hot flush shooting into either pale cheek. Would he break down and beg for mercy? It was not in keeping with his cool courage during the trial. I could not help pitying him, and feeling that it would have been much better had be refrained from speaking-at all. I dared not look at his face for some moments. At length he was speaking again, and I ventured once more to look toward him. The flush had disappeared, and the prisoner's face was pallid as before.

"I know what the sentence must be, your honor," continued he, with awful calmness. "I have only this to say: I am an innocent man. I lay up nothing against the members of the jury. They thought they were performing a duty; but if there is a future life, in that future the truth will be with me, and I shall be vindicated." He bowed his head and ceased to speak. His words had been impressive. To me they were convincing. I had moved for a new trial when the verdict had been rendered, on the previous day, and now had no more to say. "Hanged by the neck until dead-Friday, November 9." These were all the words that reached my ear. I rose to leave the room. The prisoner was led past. I glanced into his white face. A look of settled despair rested on every lineament. 1 bent forward and whispered a word of hope, mentioning the fact of my determination to move all the powers for a new trial. He said nothing, and soon the court-room was empty. "It's justice. It was an infamous murder. I started at sound of voices at my elbow. Two gentlemen were discussing the prisoner and his sentence.

I paused to listen. "I knew Wallace Harper well. All of his family have died violent deaths. He had a good show with Donald Dunham. He had been with the old gen-tleman two years. I think the trouble was all on account of the girl, who they say is quite sick because of the death of her father."

"Did the girl think any thing of the clerk?"

"Some say so. I don't know. It seem 'twas on her account that Harper put poison in the old man's wine. It was a foolish as well as a wicked crime."

I walked on. The details of the murder had been recited too many times to interest me now. It had appeared on the trial that Harper was in love with his old employer's only laughter, and that Dunham had quarreled with his confidential clerk in consequence.

On the evening when he (Harper) was to depart Mr. Dunham called him into the library and requested him to drink a social glass of wine with him. It seem that Harper assented. An hour later Donald Dunham was dead. He had died in agony, and with his latest breath accused his clerk of having pois-oned him. The dregs of one of the wine-cups were found to contain arsenic, the other being harmless. The confidential clerk was at once arrested, and in one of his pockets a package of arsenic was found. Such evidence was overwhelming. Wallace Harper sent for me, and I undertook his defense. I made as good a fight as possible under the circumstances.

The ante-mortem testimony of Donald Dunham, together with the fact that the two had quarreled, and the finding of the poison in the pocket of Harper, was evidence that I could not overcome.

I went from the court-room to my own pleasant home feeling a weight on my mind that I could not shake off. A hours later a messenger came to me from the prisoner, requesting an inter-

I at once repaired to the jail.
Wallace Harper greeted me with a pleasantsmile, and held out his hand. "I am satisfied that you did all that buman being could do, Mr. Nelson, and I want to thank you for it, and to tell you that it is my wish that you do nothing toward securing a new trial.'

I expressed my surprise at this, "It would only postpone the inevita-ble," he said. "Ill luck runs in our family. I suppose I was born to be hung!" and the laugh that followed made my flesh creep.

"But you are innocent?" 1 said, a sudden doubt coming, unbidden, to my

"I am innocent. I hope you will never doubt that, Mr. Nelson."

A little later I left him, promising not to urge a new trial. I was satisfied that a new trial could not be obtained. and I had only entertained the thought, to delay matters as long as possible.

It was two months to the 9th of No vember. Much might be done in that time if there had been any foundation on which to stand. As it was, I tried to dismiss the prisoner from my mind and attend to other business. I could not do this, however, and the days and weeks passed, until one day remained before the day set for the execution of the condemned. On this day I visited Wallace Harper once mere. He had lost flesh, and I could see that there was much inward suffering. I became fully convinced that something rested on his mind, and I urged him to make a clean breast of it.

"It could do no good," he declared. "I will die without speaking." And

As I passed from the jail another visitor was announced--a vailed woman It was donbtless the man's sweetheart, come to visit him for the last time. She had been too ill to appear at the trial, and I had never seen her to speak with her since.

The night before the day set for the vindication of the law I passed miserably. I felt that an innocent man was soon to be launched into eternity.

In the gray mists of the morning of November 9 a vailed female walked to my door. I answered the bell in person, and I admitted the visitor to my office-room. Being seated, she throw aside her vail, revealing a young face, pale and thin, and almost beautiful. Before she spoke I knew that she was the daughter of the late Donald Dunham. "Is it too late to save Wallace Harper?" she asked, in a tremulous voice.

"Certainly too late," I answered. "Of course, if there was new evidence, some other person committed the crime for which he is to suffer, I've no doubt we might save the young man. But-" "I have that evidence." "You have? Why in Heaven's name of a positive nature, going to show that did you not speak sooner, then?" I cried. in a stern voice. "I dared not," she said, slowly. "I-I must speak now; the world must know the truth. Wallace Harper is innocent. It was I who did the deed.'

Her whole frame shook like an aspen, and I could see that she was wrought up to an awful pitch of excitement. I could scarcely believe her words, however. It must be that she was driven mad on account of her lover's peril. I requested her to speak, however, and she did so, in rapid, low tones.

"It was I who did the deed. I hated to speak sooner. I loved my father, and I did not like to believe him capable of doing an evil deed. He did it, however. He invited Wallace to take wine with him that last evening. I saw him pour the wine, and I saw him drop a powder into one of the goblets. Then he called Wallace, and requested him to quaff with him.

"I did not know what the powder was, but an awful fear oppressed me. With a quick movement when father's back was turned I exchanged goblets, and father drained the one intended for his clerk. What followed you know. I was horrified when I learned that a deadly poison had been administered.

"I could not speak. My father murderer! It was horrible. I realized that my hand had substituted the poison for his lips that he had intended for another. In the excitement of the moment Wallace picked up the folded paper containing the poison that lay near by and dropped it into his pocket, as he testified at the trial. In his dying moments my father cursed the name of Harper and accused him of murdering him.

"I fainted, I think, and I have been near to death since that. I have tried to bring myself to speak more than once, but have been unequal to the task. I am now anxious to have the truth known. Can you save Wallace?

He is an innocent man. There was no time to be lost. I sprang up at once. I visited a magistrate with Miss Dunham, and her alldavit was sent over the wires to the Governor. We were none too soon. A reprieve was granted, and the facts at once investigated. Miss Dunham adhered to her story, and Wallace Harper corroborated it. He saw her move the glasses, but had refused to speak, lest he should criminate the girl he loved. That was his secret

A thorough investigation was had, and the story told by the girl accepted. Wallace Harper went forth a free man, and he has since won an honorable place in the business world.

I saw him, five years afterward, for the first time since his narrow escape from the gallows.

"Yes, I am married," he said, when I brought up old times. "No, Miss Dunham is not my wife. Do you know, Mr. Nelson, I have always believed that she poisoned her father! I think her mad love unsettled her mind. At any rate, she is now an inmate of an asylum, and

OUR COLUMN.

These Are the Books

We Are Giving Away.

This book contains 480 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy pa-per and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

It is different trom all other works ever published. First — It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when a person gets sick. All similar books tell what to do if you know what the disease is. This book tells you HOW TO DETECT THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it.

No other Book Published does this,

Second-When a person is really attacked by a dan-gerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is: "Send for a competent phy-sician at once." But in all ordinary cases, such as can be easily cured, it gives full directions for treatment.

Third—It is not confined to the practice used by any one class of physicians; but it gives, separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different schools of medicine, and in ALL CASES the PRE-SCRIPTIONS ARE MADE by the MOST EMINENT MEN in their respective modes of practice This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what medical school they prefer.

No other Book Published Does this

TESTIMONIALS:

I have examined the advance sheets of "Cur Family Physician" It gives me pleasure to recommend the work as correct in its mode of treatmen: of disease, and it de-serves wide circulation. J. F. COOK, M. D., Professor in Burnett's Medical Col-lege, Chicago.

After examining the publication "Our Family Physician" I can fully endorse the opinions expressed of its merits by the above gentlemen, R. A. GUNN, M.D. Professor of the Burnett Medical College.

The book contains a valuable chapter of symptoms, which will aid wonderfully in diagnosing diseases, and the proper remedies are given for Allopathic, Homeopathic, Eclectic, Hydropathic and Herbal treatments.

We have a number of the books on hand, and we invite inspection. There are three chapters in the "Family Physician" which are worthy of special mention, namely, those on "Disenses of Women," i. lease of Infants" and "Care of

The sease of infants" and "Care of the sick."

The first of these is a model of its kind. It is chaste in juncuage, contains no disgusting pictures for children to happen on and be or ercurious about, and taken altogether is the most practical, sen lible and straight-forward treatise upon this delicate subject that has ever been printed.

This chapter alone is worth many times the cost of the book to every mother, even if it 1 ad to be purchased at its regular price.
The other chapters referred to are equally well written and valuable, see "Our Plan" on 4th page.

It is customary with newspapers to give premiums to new subscribers only; but the publishers of the Weekly Gazeris mean to revise this old rule; they intend to do as well, at le. si, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and paid their money for it "right straight along." We propose to show our apprecation of these friends in a substantial manner; and as the premium to be offered is expensive, and as ou 'express object in offering it is to increase our list of subscribers, we will ask every old subscriber who may renew his subscribion, thus receiving the valuable premium, to constitute himself a missionary, and thus in securing at least ONE, new subscriber. Come, and bring us one new name and get a book hat will be of incalculable value to you.

The new subscriber also gets
